

Appliance Testing & Tagging

AS/NZS 3760.2003 states: “In-Service testing is necessary for the safety of persons using the equipment and for the proper discharge of the obligations of employers and employees, as listed in legislation covering occupational health and safety matters.”

Let JNJ Electrics help you to develop and maintain an Appliance Testing & Tagging program to ensure your Occupational Health & Safety and legal obligations are met.